

A 1998

9799

DAVID E. MURPHY, SERGEI A. KONDRASHEV,
✓
AND GEORGE BAILEY

Battleground BERLIN

CIA VS. KGB IN THE COLD WAR

Contents

Preface	ix
Acknowledgments	xiii
Key Players	xv
List of Abbreviations	xix
Behind the Lines in the Cold War Jonathan Brent	xxiii

Part I. The Sides Line Up

1. CIA's Berlin Base: A Question of Knowledge	3
2. KGB Karlshorst: How It All Began	24
3. The Berlin Blockade Challenges Western Ingenuity and Perseverance	51
4. The Korean War: Pretext or Premise for Rearming West Germany?	79
5. Cold Warriors in Berlin: A New Era in CIA Operations	103

Part II. The Crisis Years

6. East German State Security and Intelligence Services Are Born	129
7. Stalin Offers Peace, but the Cold War Continues	142
8. Soviet Intelligence Falters After Stalin's Death: New Revelations About Beria's Role	151

9. The Events of June 1953	163
10. The Mysterious Case of Otto John	183

Part III. BOB Tries Harder

11. The Berlin Tunnel: Fact and Fiction	205
12. Redcap Operations	238
13. BOB Concentrates on Karlshorst	255
14. The Illegals Game: KGB vs. GRU	267

Part IV. Tests of Strength

15. KGB and mfs: Partners or Competitors?	285
16. Khrushchev's Ultimatum	305
17. BOB Counters the Soviet Propaganda Campaign	317
18. Bluffs, Threats, and Counterpressures	327

Part V. Concrete Diplomacy: The Berlin Wall

19. Facing the Inevitable	343
20. Countdown to the Wall	363
21. The Berlin Wall: Winners and Losers	378

Epilogue	396
----------	-----

Appendixes. More Detail from CIA and KGB Archives

Appendix 1. The Merger of KPD and SPD: Origins of SED	399
Appendix 2. Double Agents, Double Trouble	408
Appendix 3. The Mysterious Case of Leonid Malinin, a.k.a. Georgiev	411
Appendix 4. MGB at Work in East Germany	415
Appendix 5. Was It Worth It? What the Berlin Tunnel Produced	423
Appendix 6. BOB's Attempts to Protect Karlshorst Sources Backfire	429
Appendix 7. KGB Illegals in Karlshorst: The Third Department	440
Appendix 8. Soviet Active Measures: A Brief Overview	447
Appendix 9. Operation Gold (SIS document obtained by George Blake)	449

Notes	455
Index	513

Illustrations follow pages 134 and 262.